

RODERICK CORDARA KC, SC - RESUME

I am in practice as an independent arbitrator and counsel in various common law jurisdictions, including Singapore, Australia, and the UK. I have specialised in maritime disputes throughout that time, with particular reference to charterparty disputes, and shipbuilding contracts. I have been involved in very heavy arbitrations over that period, both as arbitrator and counsel, dealing with a variety of vessel types (ferries, bulk carriers, warships, pipe layers, LPSOs, drilling rigs and production platforms), giving rise to a range of issues from freight and cargo damage, to rescission/repudiation fights (as the freight market moves), involving both . I have also had a long history of oil and gas disputes (mostly upstream) involving production sharing contracts in fields from North Sea, West Africa, and Central Asia to Indonesia. I have familiarity with GAFTA, and similar commodity disputes.

My family background is Italian, and I have acted for Italian shipowners over the years. I speak Italian well.

Given that I have a multicentred practice, with family both in Australia and Europe, I spend about a third of my year (in total) in South Asia, together with a third in Australia, and the rest in Europe. I have been coming to Singapore, for professional and personal reasons for over 30 years.

I am a holder of a British passport, and no other.

For further details see:

<https://newchambers.com.au/barristers/roderick-cordara-gc/>

<https://essexcourt.com/barrister/roderick-cordara-kc/>